WHIPPING CHILDREN. - A parent who don't know how to govern a child without whipping it. ought to surrender the care of that child to some wiser person. Sportsmen once thought it was necessary to lash their dons in training them for the field. They know now the whip should never be used. Horsemen once thought it was necessary to whip their colts to teach them to start on the spot at the word, and pull steadily. They new know that an apple is better than the lash and a caress better than a blow. If dogs and horses can thus be educated without publishment, what is there in our children which makes it necessary to slap and pound them? Have they less intelligence? Have they colder hearts? Are they lower in the scale of being ?

We have heard many old prople say: "I we were to bring up another child we would never whip it." They are wise but a little teo late. Instead of God doing so little for children that they must be whipped to goodness, He has done so much for them that even a whipping cac't ruin them-that is, as a rule. But, alas! there are many examplions to this rule .-Many children are of such a quality that a blow makes those cowardly, or reckless, or declitful, or permanently ugly. Whipping makes children he; whipping makes them hate their parents; whipping makes them distast ful; makes the poys tun away; makes the girls seck happiness accombined and anyhow; whipping is barbarous. Do not whip.
